English

Writing for Purpose and Audience: Non-Fiction

Contextual Summary

This English resource covers several stages to a finished product, starting on site at Amazon World Zoo Park, and finishing in the classroom at school.

It is intended to focus students on the selection and recording of information for an explanatory leaflet that will be completed back at school. The end product could easily be changed, for example, to a flier, web page or email.

Activities are designed to appeal to students of all abilities in lower key stage 2 (years 3-4).

Task Implementation

The students will be guided to select and record relevant information whilst on the visit.

It would be helpful if students were given the task sheets prior to the visit, and audience and purpose were discussed and decided at this point.

The leaflet will be drafted and produced when back at school after the information has been collected.

Although there are suggested focus points for the writing of the leaflet, there are no specific lesson plans provided for the post-visit task.

Ability Levels

This resource is suitable for lower key stage 2 students of mixed ability. There are two versions of this resource available for low and high ability.

- ▶ drawing on knowledge of literary devices.

Relationship to Curriculum

The above skills are directly linked to the subject content for KS2 English Writing in the National Curriculum, and to the relevant BGE skills in Scotland.

Learning Opportunities

Before the Visit

- ▶ Students need to be made aware of the outcome before the visit, and it will be necessary for them to go through the questions and decide on audience and purpose.

During the Visit

- ▶ There are a variety of ways that students will be finding and selecting information: from their own observations to identifying displays and information boards with relevant details. They will also be making their own connections and judgments.
- ▶ Completion of the resource sheets indicated below:

Resource ID: 119001 (KS2L low ability)

119002 (KS2L high ability)

Post-Visit

- ▶ Students complete their leaflet back in the classroom.

Enrichment Opportunities

- ▶ The on-site research experience challenges the student's perceptions of what is appropriate for their audience and purpose. In many ways it is more challenging than classroom based research.
- ▶ Whilst doing this, students will also be learning about the role that rainforests play in the lives of animals, plants and humans. They will consider the reasons why the rainforests are threatened, how this has a global impact and what measures can be taken to maintain an environmentally stable situation. This supports the science curriculum and the geography curriculum.
- ▶ There is also the option of combining the post-visit task with ICT.

Learning Outcomes

- ✓ Students will learn to consider audience and purpose.
- ✓ They will be taking a particular viewpoint and will select appropriate factual detail to support this.
